Opening

A Standard of Excellence

When August 1994 arrived, the faculty, staff, and student body of Longwood College, had already been working for several months on the goals and objectives to promote a standard of excellence in the upcoming year. Class schedules and course loads, community service projects and campus speakers, are just a few examples. The events planned promoted excellence as well as friendship and fun. Students had plenty to do.

Activities Set the Standard at

PREVIEW

PREVIEW is part of the orientation process at Longwood. PREVIEW was developed in order to help new students with the adjustment to college and to also teach them about the standard of excellence required at Longwood. The new students beginning the 1994-95 year participated in three distinct phases of the program. Phase I is a two-day orientation. Phase II is a week of freshman activities in August prior to the start of the year. Phase III is an orientation class called Longwood Seminar. Students take part in community service activities and tours of campus facilities. Freshmen quickly learn to maintain the standard.

Student Life

A Memorable Standard of Life

The 94-95 year had many memorable opportunities which added to each students' Classic Standard of Excellence. The Oktoberfest and Spring Weekend festivities gave way for the creation of many memories. The cold weather did not deter students from camping out in protest against the budget cuts. Well-known guest speakers were prominent each semester. These activities and more helped students create a Memorable Standard of Life.

A Tradition of Spirit

Oktoberfest

The Oktoberfest celebration has been a long standing tradition at Longwood. The festivities began with Spirit Week. Students participated in such themes as "Hat Day" and "Mismatch Day." On Friday, the classes battled each other on Iler Field, Sophomores and Seniors, the Green and Whites, against the Freshmen and Juniors, the Red and Whites. Many games were played, but the one most anticipated was the Pain Battles. On Saturday, the parade opened the day to a number of main stage events and organizational booths. Thanks to the enthusiasm of Lindo Gharib and Sandy Fisher, the main stage activities were introduced and the many events of the day were announced. The students, parents, alumni, and guests each enjoyed the fun-filled day.

"I have been going to Oktoberfest for the last three years and each year brings a different experience as well as a familiar one. I especially like performing as a dancer for Lancer Line."
—Stephanie McDaniel, sophomore

Many organizations participate in the Oktoberfest celebration by selling a wide variety of things, including drinks, food, and T-shirts at their individual booths.

Children's games are a tradition during Oktoberfest to allow parents a rest from entertaining their children. Lisa Papa volunteers her time to help out with a ball toss game.

A Tradition of Spirit

Oktoberfest

"I really enjoyed Oktoberfest 1994. Being a Spirit Leader for the Red and Whites made it that much more special for me. I had fun promoting spirit and enthusiasm to make this Oktoberfest the best."
— Alison Ross

Residence Hall Life

A Standard of Living

Each year hundreds of new faces appear on campus to experience the advantages and disadvantages of discovering a home away from home. This can be a very difficult experience for some people. Laura Shiflett said that the most difficult part about hall life was "having to share hallrooms and bathrooms with one or more people." However, living in residence halls also provides the opportunity to meet new people. Hall life provides students with a chance to socialize and enjoy not only the educational aspect of Longwood but also the social aspect.

"I like being close to friends with the opportunity to socialize. Classmates as well as friends are all there and you don't have to leave in order to see people. Overall, I like the unpredictability."

Sports

Fit for the Challenge

The Lancer athletic teams did not just strive for excellence. They made it their standard. Sports were infiltrated into every part of their lives as the team members progressed into seasons of hard work, drills, and practices. However, Longwood athletics was fit for the challenge. It was not too much for students to exhibit good teamwork in addition to personal skill. The style of the program was a classic that enabled each student to contribute and form a standard of excellence on and off the field.

MEN'S BASKETBALL AND WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Soup! There it is! This was an expression that could be heard on occasion last year. It was made in reference to Charles (Soup) Brown. The announcer said his name often because of all the baskets he made. This year's mens' basketball team had to put those thoughts behind them, and start fresh with a new outlook. Coach Carr did an excellent job leading the team. The new freshmen and transfer students were infiltrated into the group with ease. This year marked the beginning of the couch potatoes, who got a sideline view and free pizza.

The women's basketball team had an excellent season, and even broke some records. Coach Duncan led the team to the Sweet Sixteen of the Division II NCAA tournament. This year, we had two for the show. Both Men's and Women's Basketball teams did an outstanding job.

BASEBALL AND SOFTBALL

The baseball team started off slowly, then ended up winning 23 of 26 games. Coach Buddy Bolding has led the team to 16 consecutive winning seasons. For the last six years, the Lancers have made it to the NCAA Division II Baseball Tournament. This has been a record breaking season with over 39 triples. Bassett, Hueston, Mozucha, Pfitzner, and Toms all broke various records. Up on the pitcher's mound were Bart van Zoest, Justin Bunch, Steve Mozucha, and Todd Barker.

Unlike baseball, there is no pitcher's mound in the game of softball. In addition, the softball team this year did not go as well as they had hoped. "We didn't give up," remarked Coach Loretta Coughlin. "We kept digging ourselves a hole and would almost get out of it, but not quite. It's been that way all season long." The team had a final record of 10-18. Yet, there were some new records made by Lorri Payne and Mari Willen, both seniors. Payne scored 393 at-bats, while Willen finished with 146 all-time hits, 102 runs, 15 triples, and 24 doubles.

MEN'S SOCCER AND WOMEN'S SOCCER

The Longwood Men's soccer team improved last year. Despite this, the season's record of 7-6-4 made many of the players feel that the team didn't play to their potential. Goalkeeper Taylor Tucker felt that, "We had a very skill oriented team, and we should have had a better season." Eric Shaffner stated that, "The team had differences of opinions on the field, but we're still tight off the field."

With the loss of only one player to graduation, Coach Stan Cieplinski and the team looked towards the season with high expectations. Coach Cieplinski stated in the 94-95 annual brochure, "I think this group is feeling very much like a unit. They supported each other both on and off the field. Our depth is also very good. Everyone on the roster can come in and contribute."

No pain, no gain! Hard work, concentration, good ball control, as well as passing and trapping skills were not a question but rather, a statement when it comes to the Lady Lancers. "We've played consistently on defense most of the year," remarked Coach Todd Dyer. This was a learning season for the team with this being their first season as a varsity team.

MEN'S TENNIS AND WOMEN'S TENNIS

More matches have been won by Coach Stan Cieplinski's squad than any Lancer team since 1983. The Longwood men's tennis team did very well when there were few injuries, and little rain. The most consistent scorers of the season were Russ Bolen, Dave Chiles, and Brian Davis. The team is practicing to be in the Carolinas-Virginia Athletic Conference next year. Both the singles and the double tournaments have been successful this season.

Victorious again! The women's tennis team continued a 6 year winning streak this season. Although tennis is a sport which focuses on individual skill, each team member helps one another as they strive for improvement.

With a fall record of 6-2, perseverance paid off for the Lady Lancers. A strong forehand and a quick eye were vital to the successful season. The season for Longwood's women's tennis team was a cut above the rest.

MEN'S GOLF AND WOMEN'S GOLF

The Longwood Men's Golf Team completed their fall season with five top ten tournament finishes in five outings. The highlight of the season was a runner-up finish at the West Virginia Wesleyan Invitational in Clarksburg, W.Va. According to Coach Nelson in the October issue of The Lance, "The consistently fine play of Eric has been nice, and we saw improvement in Evan this fall as well."

Coach Nelson did express some disappointment in the consistency of his number four and five players. The team also had some problems with injuries such as shoulder and knee surgeries.

With the best four golfers from their 1993-4 season, the Lady Lancer golf team went looking for a victorious season. In the 94-95 annual brochure, Coach Cindy Ho said, "I feel we have a wonderful combination of veteran experience and enthusiasm." Hopes were high and good results were expected.

FIELD HOCKEY AND LACROSSE

The 1994 Field Hockey season was a transitional journey for Longwood. The team had to struggle with numerous road trips, and a new coach, Janet Grubbs. Overall, the team pulled together to survive even the toughest games.

The Lancers added some excellent newcomers to the team. Some of these included Teresa Birr, who scored two goals for Longwood. In addition, freshmen Ali Brandenburger and Lori Clark both started in 16 games.

The Lancer seniors contributed to the team through their years of experience and dedication. Senior All-Americans Sara Hogan and Mari Willen will be missed in the 1995 season. As Coach Grubbs states, "The combination of youth, on the road and the turf made the 1994 season an uphill climb. Now we're ready, up and over the top, for '95."

New to Longwood, Coach Janet Grubbs also coached Lacrosse. Sarah Hogan, who had 28 goals and eight assists, and Emily Stone who scored 14 goals with five assists were both on the lacrosse team in addition to the field hockey team. The lacrosse team has been on a roller coaster ride with its wins and losses. Yet, teamwork was a strong point for them. "We passed the ball very well again," observed Grubbs. "The team has been playing well and it was nice to get another win. Our teamwork is really nice to see." This was an important factor in getting the team in the mood for victory!

Amy Hegna sets to drive the ball down the field.

Natalie Buritsch moves past her opponent to score another goal.

Susy Q. fakes out her opposition with her defensive moves.

Longwood uses a classic defensive stance at the goal.

WRESTLING

For the second year in a row, the wrestling team has won third place at the annual Virginia College Division State Championship. The team finished its season with a dual-meet record of 6-10-1. Coach Steve Nelson stated, "This is our smallest squad, in terms of participants, in a number of years." In addition, it is a very young team with seven new freshmen.

For the eighth year in a row, at least one member of the team has went on to the nationals. At 126 pounds, junior Stuart Chung qualified for the NCAA Division II National Wrestling Championship. In the past, injuries had hampered his ability to succeed. Injuries are very common in wrestling. Also injured were Bryan Hartley, Mark Helberg, Bobby Holliday, and Shawn Carr, as well as others. Yet, this did not hold the team back from putting in a lot of effort to win.

Mark Helberg makes another pin.

CHI
THE SPIRIT OF LONGWOOD

CHI Burning as always was one of the biggest events of the year as 54 people were commended in front of this bon fire.

CHI walked in front of the Student Union to show support for "Tent City," Longwood's protest of the state's budget cuts in higher education.

As tradition dictates, CHI walked through the Colonnades.

Greek Life

An Excellent Social Life

Greek Week, Walk, and Ball are classic traditions held dear by the Greek Society at Longwood. Greek Life thrives at Longwood like the heartbeat of America. It offers a great social opportunity for those who wish to embrace it. The opportunities at Longwood for its students to have friendship, fun, and brotherly/sisterly love are abundant. Greek Life exemplifies both the standard of excellence and involvement at Longwood.

People

The Source to Set the Standard

Standards are set by everyone, whether they are for ourselves, others, within our school, or in the community. In both academic achievement and extra-curricular activities at Longwood, the students are the source to set the standards, and they are high. After setting these high standards, the students do not quit. They work even more to meet and go beyond their goals to achieve the utmost standard of excellence.

A Classic Ending

Many events and activities have taken place during the 94-95 school year. There were memories made that will last a lifetime. The students came together in protest and in fun. There were traditions that continued and new ones created. The spirit was stronger than ever. Graduation brought about many good-byes, but welcomed new beginnings for everyone's TRADITION OF LIFE.

DECEMBER GRADUATION

December Graduate, William C. Fiege, introduced his father, Dr. John C. Fiege, as the guest speaker for the December 17, 1994 exercises. Dr. Fiege is the President of Eastern Shore Community College. The Fieges are pictured above with President William F. Dorrill and the Rector of the Board of Visitors, D. Patrick Lacy, Jr.

December Graduates, Laurinda Brundage and Carol Morris, await the big moment.

MAY GRADUATION

Thank you Larry

This edition of the Virginian would not have been possible without the efforts of Advisor Larry Robertson. He dedicated himself to a project that has received little support. He brought us all together and has helped us to create a book that Longwood will be proud to have represent it. Larry was there as a friend as well as an advisor. The editors and staff of the Virginian would like to thank Larry for all of his time, his support, and his understanding. He will be missed.

A Note Of Thanks!

The Virginian staff would like to thank the following:

Larry Robertson, advisor
Hilton Hallock, advisor
The Rotunda
The Longwood Bookstore
Pyllis Mable
Lisa Dean, Delmar representative
Sports Information
Savita Rai in Greek Affairs
and anyone else who has helped us to produce this book during a long and difficult year.
